

CVA Inc.

July 1, 2019

To all our valued customers and suppliers:

After 40 years in the thermal products market, Don Clos and Larry Vendal have decided to sell their business (e.g., CVA) and start the transition into retirement. We are pleased to announce that effective July 1, 2019 Hi-Watt and CVA will be merging our respective thermal businesses and expertise under the Hi-Watt/CVA brand. Please note the only meaningful short term impact will be the change of building address and banking information below.

Don and Larry have laid a foundation of quality thermal products and customer service. The Hi-Watt team is proud to build on this reputation with the addition of our own expanded thermal product lines and local tech support/build capabilities. Over the next several weeks, Don, Larry and others will be reaching out to touch base on this merger, introduce new team members and answer any questions. Additionally Cindy Carpenter will be assisting the Hi-Watt team with the transition and providing continuity.

Overall there are no immediate changes planned in part numbers/service levels etc. other than some updated shipping /financial information below. Should you or your team have any immediate questions on this transition feel free to contact me anytime.

On behalf of both Hi-Watt and CVA we look forward to a continued successful future relationship.

Sincerely,

Don Clos, Larry Vendal and Jonas Rodger
